Walking to and from school alone policy

Introduction

There are no laws around age or distance of walking to school. A families' guide to the law states: 'There is no law prohibiting children from being out on their own at any age. It is a matter of judgement for parents to decide when children can play out on their own, walk to the shops or school.'

Parents are legally obliged to ensure their children get to school and attend regularly, but this in itself does not disallow independent travel. However, as a school, we are responsible for the welfare of our pupils and therefore have to consider what we believe is good practice in ensuring the safety of our pupils. We also have an obligation to alert relevant authorities should we believe a child's welfare is at risk.

Pupils in Foundation Stage or KS1

Our agreed school policy is that no pupil in Foundation Stage or Key Stage 1 should walk to or from school on his or her own, or be left on their own on the school premises either before or after school. In addition, we will only hand over pupils to named adults or older siblings provided they are 14 years old or above. However, if the professional judgement of the adult at school deems the older sibling not to be suitable, they will not hand the child over.

Pupils will not be handed over to other adults unless the school has been informed by the parent that they have made this arrangement. We also ask that you keep us informed of any changes in arrangements, preferably by letter. If someone turns up to collect your child and we have not been notified, the adult will have to wait until we have verified his or her identity. If no one arrives to collect a child in these year groups, they will be kept in school and parents contacted. If the child is not collected and we have failed to make contact with the child's carer, we will consult with family services. We will not allow older brothers or sisters in school to collect younger siblings.

Pupils in KS2

While there is no set age when children are ready to walk to school or home on their own, we believe that pupils in Years 3 and 4 should still be brought to and collected from school, and this is our policy.

As regards pupils in Years 5 and 6, we believe that you, as parents, need to decide whether your child is ready for the responsibility of walking to and from school alone.

In deciding whether your child is ready to walk to school, you should assess any risks associated with the route and your child's confidence. Work with your child to build up their independence while walking to school through route-finding, road safety skills and general awareness. There are many ways you can prepare your child to make an independent journey. Children who are driven to school do not have the opportunity to develop road awareness, and are therefore more vulnerable when they start to walk to school independently.

Walking to school is a great opportunity to learn road safety skills. The best way to do this is to walk with your children from a young age, teaching them about crossing the road, learning how to navigate and a host of other skills. This helps them gain experience and confidence to deal with traffic and way-finding on their own, in preparation for walking with friends or alone when they are older.

Teach your child to:

- Pay attention to traffic at all times when crossing the street; never become distracted.
- Always cross roads where there is a marked crossing where possible. Where this is not, cross in a place where you can see clearly in all directions. Avoid parked cars or bends in the road.
- Look both ways before crossing; listen for traffic coming; cross while keeping an eye on traffic.
- Look out for cyclists.
- Remember that drivers may not see them, even if they can see the driver.
- Remember that it is hard to judge the speed of a car, so be cautious.
- Never, ever, follow someone who is either a stranger or someone they know, but is not a designated 'safe' adult. Speak to your child about what they should do if this should ever happen.

When deciding whether your child is ready for this responsibility, you might want to consider the following:

1. Do you trust them to walk straight home?
2. Do you trust them to behave sensibly when with a friend?
3. Are they road safety aware?
4. Would they know what to do if a stranger approaches them?
5. Would they have the confidence to refuse to do what a stranger asked?
6. Would they know the best action to take if a stranger tried to make them do something they did not want to do?

7. Would they know what to do if they needed help?
8. Would they know whom best to approach to get help?

If you are not confident about how your child would react, then you should seriously consider whether you should allow them to walk on their own. If you decide that your child is ready for this responsibility, then you must inform the school by completing the form below. Your child will not be allowed to walk home unless permission has been given in writing.

We will not allow children to walk home alone in the dark. Please bear in mind that if they are attending an after-school club during the winter months, it may be dark when the club finished.

If at any time you need to change arrangements as regards your child walking to and from school, please ensure that you let us know in writing immediately.
